

Association of Clinical Pathologists

Applying for a consultant post in pathology & surviving the first two years

New third edition

This is the third and enlarged edition (87 pages) of this popular guide. It is aimed at trainees in all the pathology disciplines who are applying for their first consultant post. It is also a useful source of information for those pathologists from outside the UK who are considering working in the UK. It covers all the essential steps that should be followed when applying for a consultant post in the United Kingdom. Management structures in pathology are reviewed. The third section covers the key challenges that face a newly appointed consultant and offers practical guidance on how to meet these challenges and survive the first two years as a consultant.

*“Beg, borrow or steal this book.....it’s chock full of helpful hints, guided tours and a few sensible references for further reading”
acp News, 2008*

*“This book is very easy to read and full of the things you should know before you start applying for consultant posts”
The Bulletin of the Royal College of Pathologists, 2008*

Send cheque for 9.95 (includes p&p) with your postal address and requirements to:

Association of Clinical Pathologists
189 Dyke Road, Hove, BN3 1TL

Email: info@pathologists.org.uk

or call with credit card details:

01273 775700